The rush and pressure of modern life are a form, perhaps the most common form, of its innate violence.

Thomas Merton, Trappist Monk,
Letter to a Young Activist

Training Objectives

You will be able to:

- Describe the core values and strengths you bring to this work
- Explain how case management intersects with other best practices
- Identify three elements of the mind-set and heart-set of case management
- Demonstrate basic proficiency related to key skills in these best practices
- Identify two effective ways to sustain learning in best practices over time

The background of the slide features two dark silhouettes of human heads in profile, facing each other. The silhouettes are positioned on the left and right sides of the frame, with the text centered between them.

“We are called to heal wounds, to unite what has fallen apart, and to bring home those who have lost their way.”

History of Homelessness

Wednesday, June 5, 2013

A black and white photograph of a person wearing a dark hoodie and pants, sitting on a three-wheeled cart. The cart is loaded with several large, dark bags or suitcases. The person is looking off to the side with a serious expression. In the background, there are other people and what appears to be a building with columns, possibly a train station or airport. The overall tone is somber and contemplative.

What can we learn?

Homelessness is and has always been about race,
class,
gender,
and disability.

War,
natural disaster,
and poverty
have been consistent causes of homelessness.

People experiencing homelessness have routinely been thought to be one group

have routinely been thought to be
one group

but they never are

Ultimately...

Ultimately...

Homelessness is always about unequal distribution of income and lack of affordable housing.

Homelessness is like a game of Commitment to ending homelessness, not just managing

An aerial, black and white photograph of a city grid, showing a dense pattern of streets and buildings. The perspective is from a high angle, looking down at the city. The text is overlaid on the lower half of the image.

You want to make a difference in the world.
You are seeking a position as a case manager. Two

Position #1

Wanted:* Case manager to engage people experiencing homelessness. Provide hygiene and survival supplies. Build trusting relationships. Assess short and long-term needs. Help to access shelter, treatment services. Assist with obtaining transitional housing to demonstrate stability and readiness to live independently in the future.

Position #2

Wanted:* Case manager to engage people experiencing homelessness with housing-focused approach. Offer permanent, affordable housing up front. Help individuals choose and move into housing as quickly as possible. Ensure linkage with support team to assist with maintaining housing and improving quality of life.

Evidence-Based Practices

“Approaches to prevention or treatment that are based in theory and have undergone scientific evaluation. Evidence-based stands in contrast to approaches that are based on tradition, convention, belief, or anecdotal evidence.”

Person-centered, housing-focused,
trauma-informed,
recovery-oriented
care
